

CHIARA PASTRY CHEF

Author: ALESSANDRO CORALLO

Title: CHIARA PASTRY CHEF

54 sweet recipes to make without the adults's help, without using electric kitchen tools, oven and cooktop.

Pages: 224 - € 15,00 –

Genre: Fiction, recipes book, teens

STORY:

"Crazy Mattonella", "Rosette's desert", "Little snow balls"... what's going on? Are they sweets?

Oh yes, because Chiara, the protagonist of this book, is 10 years old and cooking is her passion: her favourite recipes are pastry-making.

During her summer holiday in the countryside, her grandma taught her all the pastry secrets.

Not only ingredients and how to make sweets, but even the way to create new unbelievable recipes with lots of fantasy.

But the remarkable thing is that Chiara makes her sweets all on her own, she doesn't need any adults's to help. She doesn't need electric kitchen tools, oven or cooktop, she adds the ingredients she needs at her mom's shopping list and then she does all alone.

Chiaras' sweets taste so good and they're beautiful and fanciful too. With her friends she founded "The sweet Club", every week they have a talk, they have fun, they plan parties and they have a late afternoon snack.

54 terrific sweets to make in every week end all year long.

Without adults's help.

Without using electric kitchen tools.

Without using oven or cooktop.

An enjoyable story will introduce you in the sweet world of Chiara.

MORE INFO:

Alessandro Corallo works for the first italian private television, Mediaset in a satirical show called "Striscia la notizia" since 1992.

He also works with the italian most famous illusionist Antonio Casanova, for him he wrote TV and theatre's magic shows and magic books. He is screenwriter for short animation movies for children.

Books: he wrote "Ad Haiti si nasce ultimi" about haitian children's life and "Haiti non muore" about the 2010 earthquake in Haiti. His last book "Matt and Splatch", a children's fantasy has been a great success for children, students and adults.

Alessandro and "his" Chiara have fun in the kitchen: Chiara preparing them and Alessandro tasting them and telling stories.

www.alessandrocorallo.com